We all want a healthy workplace that keeps us alert, energetic, engaged and motivated, which are all the qualities that help us be productive. We have created these products to help ease the transition of getting people back in the office.

CHAIR PROTECTION

In order to maintain social distancing, we need to reduce occupancy in meeting rooms, the 'Don't sit on me' chair protector enables (you to take) any chair to remain insitu and be taken out of service without having to find additional storage space.

The chair protector negates the need of unnecessary cleaning.
